PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN (PDP)
NEEDS ASSESSMENT PRIORITIZING

Student and teacher needs, along with district goals and objectives, will determine the Plan’s priorities as it guides us in 21st Century learning. Our ongoing analysis of the school district’s summative and formative assessments, evaluation of professional development opportunities and ongoing communications / feedback has identified the following areas of focus:

BELIEFS:

1. High quality professional development is focused, sustained, work embedded, collaborative and purposeful professional learning that results in student achievement.

2. District Administrators are instructional leaders who support staff in assuming leadership roles to enhance learning communities.

3. Monroe BOCES #1 supports and guides common themes that arise that could be addressed through professional development or other resources.

4. Professional Development encourages lifelong learning and empowers staff members to fully develop their potential, thereby enabling them to respond effectively to a variety of challenges in the educational system.

ESSENTIAL QUESTIONS:

● If professional learning communities are the solution, then what is the problem?
  ○ How are PLCs supporting district initiatives? i.e. technology initiative of 1 to 1 devices for all students

● To what extent can the successful implementation of professional learning communities’ impact student engagement and achievement?

● To what extent do successfully implemented professional learning communities support the standards of high quality professional growth?
INTRODUCTION

Subdivision (dd) of Section 100.2 of the Regulations of the Commissioner of Education requires that by September 1, 2000, and annually by September 1 of each school year thereafter, school districts adopt a professional development plan. The purpose of this multi-year plan is to continue to improve the quality of teaching and learning by ensuring that teachers participate in substantial professional development to remain current in their profession while meeting the learning needs of their students.

High-quality professional development fosters change in classroom practice resulting in increased academic achievement for all students. We can ensure professional development is “time well spent” if we provide professional development opportunities that are job-embedded, sustained over time, centered on active learning, and focused on student outcomes.

We need to be creative in how future professional development opportunities could be provided. “Early release” days could provide the opportunity to build the foundation for professional learning communities to study student work, lesson design, assessments, technology integration, and other job-embedded practices to impact student achievement. Currently time is allocated one hour per month for the learning team to work together to use data to understand what students are not learning and to find instructional gaps, determine what the teachers need to do to help close those gaps, and implement the new strategies.

Additional support for the professional learning communities needs to be provided during the school day. The current structure somewhat supports effective professional learning communities. At the Elementary level, common planning time for grade level teams is built in the schedule. This is also true at the Middle level which provides flexibility for grade level teams to collaborate. At the High School level, other alternatives are considered in order to provide department or team collaborative time.
GOALS / ENDURING UNDERSTANDINGS:

Professional development is a key component of assuring quality instruction by knowledgeable and effective educators for all students in the district. To that end, the East Rochester UFSD Professional Development Plan has the following goals and enduring understandings:

East Rochester stakeholders will understand that:

- Professional learning communities are an ongoing process used to establish a school wide culture that is based on a fundamental belief in building teacher leadership in school improvement efforts
  - Professional learning communities are not a prescription, a new program, a model, or an innovation to be implemented. Rather, a PLC is an infrastructure or a way of working together that results in continuous school improvement

- Through participation in professional learning communities, teachers enhance their leadership capacity as they work as members of ongoing, high-performing, collaborative teams that focus on improving student learning through job-embedded professional development
  - To capitalize on the in-district professional knowledge and expertise to create coherence, continuity and capacity in the professional growth of the district
  - Maintain the flexibility to meet the professional development needs of individual teachers, administrators, and paraprofessionals in all subject areas, grade levels, job descriptions, and levels of experience
  - Knowledge is situated in the day-to-day experiences of teachers and is best understood through critical reflection with others who share the same experiences. Actively engaging teachers in professional learning communities will increase their professional knowledge and enhance student learning (Vescio, Ross, & Adams, 2006)

- Develop goals, objectives, and programs in response to student data. Analysis of student data by grade level teams, departments, or district curriculum committees is essential for program or instructional change / improvement to occur
  - Establish a set of protocols and procedures, including viable needs assessment(s), to establish, assess, and maintain responsive, sustained, relevant and accessible professional development that meets the needs and demands of district professionals

- The content of the East Rochester Union Free School District Professional Development and Mentor Plan is being supported in part by BOCES (Mid-West, JMT), RBERN, and RSE-TASC Teacher Centers and their approved CTLE providers.
PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN SOURCES USED:

As part of the ongoing professional development planning cycle, the East Rochester School District reviews multiple data sources. The following documents are analyzed annually to determine the focus and content of the Professional Development Plan:

School Report Card
New York Grades 3 – 8 Assessment Data
Student Attendance Rates
ESSA Disapline Reports
New York State Regents Reports
Graduation and Drop-out Rates
Special Education Classification Rates and Annual Reviews
State & District Benchmarks for Student Performance
Advanced Placement Test Results
Historical Data Comparison
Formative and Summative Assessment Data
RTI Universal Screening and Progress Monitoring
Professional Development Needs Assessment Survey,
Evaluations and Feedback

Review of this data, leads East Rochester School District to identification of the following Professional Development objectives.
OBJECTIVES:

● Increase student achievement for ALL students by the successful implementation of professional learning communities that are high functioning collaborative learning teams.

  o To increase ongoing collaboration within departments and teams with emphasis on collaborative unit development, alignment of resources throughout grade levels, departments and buildings, and development of common assessments

  o To put into practice research-based instructional strategies that are monitored and evaluated for effectiveness (using summative and formative assessments to inform instructional needs)

  o To increase and strengthen teacher knowledge, subject/content matter and classroom management skills in order to ensure that all reach high academic achievement

● To provide a mentoring program that will improve new teachers’ abilities to assist students in meeting Next Generation Learning Standards, increase retention of new teachers, and provide guidance and support

  o Teachers will participate in professional development:
    - work sessions for 1.0 hr. for six (6) meetings scheduled within the months from Sept. – June
    - that increases their understanding of the instructional, content and curricular shift within the Next Generation Learning Standards
    - that addresses the needs of diverse learners – differentiated instruction strategies
    - that improves the learning of all students by collaborating with others to improve instruction and increase student engagement and achievement
    - that improves teachers understanding of the value of common formative and summative assessments
    - to understand what the data represents; make decisions based on analysis of student work and to make changes or improve instructional strategies

EVALUATION STANDARDS

- Professional development workshops offered by the East Rochester School District will be evaluated by feedback received from the participants. (PD evaluation attached - pg. 18 & 19)

- Teacher observations will document changes in teacher practices.

- School improvement efforts will be supported with the development of understanding and addressing district goals.

- APPR evaluations.

When our school functions as a PLC we will:
- Collectively pursue shared mission, vision, values and goals
- Work interdependently in collaborative teams focused on learning
- Engage in ongoing collective inquiry into best practice and the "current reality" of student achievement and the prevailing practices of the school
- Demonstrate an action orientation and experimentation
- Participate in systematic processes to promote continuous improvement
- Maintain an unrelenting focus on results

In their subsequent work Dr. DuFour, Dr. Eaker, and Rebecca DuFour argue that these characteristics are driven by "Three Big Ideas" that guide the daily work of educators in a PLC:

1. The fundamental purpose of the school is to ensure high levels of learning for all students, and the extent to which the school is successful in achieving that purpose will have a profound effect on the short-term and long-term success of students. The relevant question in a PLC is not "Was it taught?" but rather, "Was it learned?" The shift from a focus on teaching to a focus on learning underpins the work of a PLC.

2. Educators cannot fulfill the fundamental purpose of learning for all if they work in isolation. Therefore, they must work together collaboratively to address those issues that have the greatest impact on student learning and must take collective responsibility to ensure the learning takes place.

3. Educators will not know the extent to which students are learning unless they have a results orientation, constantly seeking evidence and indicators of student learning. They will use that evidence to identify students who need additional time and support for learning and to inform and improve their own practice in the classroom.

In an effort to support professional development and tracking and maintenance of professional certifications, the office of Professional Development has streamlined the professional development registration and tracking process as follows:

Registration

Commencing with the 2018-2019 school year, any holder of a:

- permanent or professional teaching certificate in the classroom teaching service,
- permanent or professional leader certificate in the educational leadership service (i.e., school building leader, school district leader, school district business leader), or
- a Level III Teaching Assistant certificate

is to register with the Department every five years. These certificate holders must be registered in order to practice in a New York public school district or BOCES.

Registration will be completed through the TEACH system.

- For teachers and school leaders with a permanent or professional certificate or a Level III Teaching Assistant certificate issued prior to July 1, 2016, they shall register during the 2016-2017 school year during his/her month of birth, beginning on July 1, 2016 and shall renew his/her registration in the last year of each subsequent five-year period thereafter.

- For teachers and school leaders with a permanent or professional certificate or a Level III Teaching Assistant certificate issued on or after July 1, 2016, they shall be automatically registered, and the certificate holder shall re-register during the fifth succeeding birthday month thereafter and during each birthday month in the last year of each subsequent five-year period.

Responsibilities

The District is committed to helping teachers and Level III Teaching Assistants complete 100 hours of professional development every five years through approved sponsored schools and Monroe BOCES organizations that meet the requirements of Subpart 80-6 for approved CTLE. This maintains the validity of the PDP consistent with 100.2 (dd) of the Commissioner’s Regulations.

Record Keeping

The teacher must keep a record of all professional development completed during their professional development period, including that provided by the school district. Required documentation elements include:

- Program/event title
- Provider name
- Date and location of the program/activity
- Accrual of hours of program/activity
- Attendance verification

Records should be kept as current with activity completion as possible. Records must be kept seven years and be made available to the NY State Education Dept. in the event of an audit. My Learning Plan, an on-line professional development catalog will be used by the district as a support record keeping tool.

Reporting - How are the 100 hours tracked in the TEACH account?
The Department will ask that the certificate holder attest to his/her completion of the 100 hours prior to his/her re-registration. He/she will also be responsible to retain a record of the CTLE programs attended and the number of hours completed. Certificate holders will attest that they have completed the 100 hours of required CTLE, must retain records of completed CTLE, and must provide documentation if requested showing that they have complied with the CTLE requirement.

TO DO List

- Talk with your school administrator and review the approved professional development activities
- Periodically check your professional development record on TEACH to make sure it is accurate and up-to-date.
- Alert the curriculum & instruction office early to any problems with hours reported to TEACH
- Keep your own records of all PD you complete for 7 years.

Allowable Activities

The East Rochester School District has approved the following professional development activities to accrue towards teachers continuing professional development requirements. The activities must be related to study in the content area, pedagogy, leadership, increasing student performance, or language acquisition for English Language Learners.
